Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

There is a crying need of some evening recreational center for Nevada City's boys and girls, ages twelve to eighteen. Anyone passing along Broad street after seven o'clock in the evening will be impressed with the number of boys and girls in groups at street corners. They have nothing to entertain themselves with, no place to go, except in the streets. This is a bad condition and should be remedied.

The Elks have lately established a crackerjack basketball team and once a week this team meets another quint and there is a good game that does attract a considerable audience of the young folks. The Elks are more and more playing a leading role in providing clean amusement for Nevada City's youth. Their attempt to organize an Antler's lodge for boys over 16 is indicative of the interest the members show in adequate amusement and sport facilities for the older boys.

Any effort, however, to provide a place under proper supervision where indoor games and sports, and occasional dances, can be offered, must have the united backing of benevolent, fraternal and civic organizations of Nevada City. The need for a recreational center of this kind for Nevada City's youngsters grows more imperative with the constant increase of population.

Within the schools, of course, there are several organizations that enlist the active interest of groups of youngsters. There are in the high school, dramatic, athletic, and musical organizations that attract those boys or girls whose talents are variously inclined to one or another of these activities. But after dark, for a great majority of Nevada City's young folks, there is a dearth of clean, wholesome amusement or interesting activities.

Fifty years ago no one bothered to think about amusements or games for children after supper. The reason was that fifty years ago there were no mechanical dish washers, no vacuum cleaners, no electric ironers, no refrigerators, no oil stoves, and lacking these there were a hundred and one chores about the premises that boys and girls in the family were charged with doing. Most of the abundant leisure now enjoyed falls to the lot of the young people. There is hardly enough work "around the place" to keep one person healthy. So children are exempt from household chores and go outside the home, with nothing better to do than meet on street corners.

For the young and active too much leisure is a dangerous thing. The old saying that "Satan finds work for idle hands to do" is just as true today as when first uttered. It may be pleaded that it is the responsibility of parents to look after their children's. No one disputes this. But hundreds of parents shirk their duty. Their children become delinquent in various ways and ultimately the community or state steps in when it it too late, and takes charge. By that time these neglected boys and girls have become a charge on all the tax payers. Viewed from a grossly materialistic standpoint, a realistic standpoint, it is far less expensive to provide those social conditions that naturally form sound characters among young people, than to neglect them until their characters have hardened into weak or criminal types.

DIST. GOVERNOR IS NEVADA CITY ROTARY GUEST

Joseph Burroughs of Oakland, district governor of Rotary, was the guest of the Nevada City club at noon yesterday. He delivered an interesting address upon the influence of Rotary toward peace in world affairs, the privilege that Rotarians enjoy, each in his own classification, and the opportunity for service which Rotary affords clubs and individuals in their own communities.

Last evening there was a Rotary assembly at the home of H. E. Kjorlie, attended by the board of directors, committee chairmen and such members as desired to be present, at which club problems and activities were discussed and reviewed with District Governor Burroughs.

Mr. Burroughs on Monday addressed the Rotary club of Grass Valley and Monday evening met with the club assembly at the home of Harold Robinson.

BLUE AND GOLD LICENSE PLATES READY ON JAN. 3

Flashing a new color scheme of blue and gold, California automobile license plates for 1939 will begin to appear January 3 with the opening of the annual period for renewal of registration. California plates for the new year will also be distinguished by the wording, "California World's Fair 39" in addition to their new color combination of gold lettering on a blue background.

The regular period for renewing registration and securing new plates will continue to February 4, when delinquent penalties will be imposed. Plates will be issued by the Department of Motor Vehicles at its various offices and by the California State Automobile Association to member motorists at thirty three district offices.

California plates with their new color combination will be part of a rainbow variety of color displayed by the license plates of cars from other states forming the heavy influx of motor tourist travel for exposition year.

BIG BEND XMAS TREES

The supply of Christmas trees on the Big Bend district of the Tahoe Forest has been entirely exhausted, District Ranger John R. Hodgsen at the Big Bend Ranger station reports. Hodgson advises that he has discontinued issuing permits, and that anyone contemplating a trip to his district for a tree, should make other arrangements.

MOUNTAINEER PROPERTIES

Randall Sharpe, who is in charge of the Mountaineer property north of Deer Creek has portions of the property under lease. Ed Moomey and three men are working on the property and have taken out some good milling ore for a test run. Mr. Sharpe was taken ill about two months ago but he is reported to be improving recently.

Phil Fodrini, who refaced the Ice House buiding at the Plaza last week fell eight feet from scaffolding to the sidewalk severely bruising his hip.

Survey Reveals More New Men At Work In Nevada Co. Mines

Reports from 34 active mines in Nevada county for the past month indicate a slight increase activity. The total number of men employed is increased to 2540 and the payroll to $381,000, as compared with 2527 and $379,050 last month. The principal increase has been in the number of men employed in the Zeibright mine. There are now 200 men at work in the Zeibright.

The Idaho Maryland has been taking on men formerly employed in its Forbestown mines as vacancies occurred in the working forces of the Idaho, New Brunswick and Bullion.

Owing to the favorable weather placer mining continues with no closings reported during the past month. The following reports have been received from various mines in operation:

ROUND MT. GRAVEL PROPERTY

Newsom and Tomkins have six men employed on the Round Mt. gravel property north of Nevada City in Blue Tent district. An 1100 foot tunnel is planned to contact an ancient channel and it is now in over 700 feet. Tom McGuire and son, engineers of Grass Valley, recently spent two days at the property surveying. San Francisco shipping interests are developing the ground and the son of the largest interested party has built a nice home on the property. His father made his money in a mine venture in early days and they are interested in mining. Work has been in progress on the property for about five months. A blacksmith shop and several other buildings have been built at the mine.

RELIANCE PLACER AND QUARTZ

Mrs. Kitty Kimball has supervised considerable development work at the Reliance Placer and Quartz mine which is located on the upper section of the Middle Yuba river and below the Von Humboldt mine. The latter is a rich old producer closed many years. Between $1500 and $1800 have been spent at the mine and all assessment work has been completed for next year. One tunnel is in about 175 feet and another has been driven 60 feet in an attempt to contact the channel. The new hydraulic dam at the Narrows dam will be of great benefit to this property. Mrs. Kimball is one of the principal owners of the mine.

TWO PAY FINES FOR CUTTING XMAS TREES

F. N. Black of San Leandro and Lawrence Pimentel of Berkeley were fined twenty five dollars each in the court of Judge F. A. Austin at Alleghany for theft of Christmas trees near Plum Valley in Sierra county, according to a report from forest supervisor DeWitt Nelson at Nevada City. The pair were apprehended at Town Talk near Nevada City by Tahoe Forest enforcement officer J. D. Rafferty as they were transporting the trees to Berkeley Sunday evening.

Nelson requests that landowners in issuing permits for the cutting of Christmas trees on their lands specify the number of trees to be cut, and not issue blanket permits. The firest service, Nelson says, is cooperating in the apprehension of parties cutting Christmas trees unlawfully on both government and private land, and the issuance of blanket permits tends to defeat the purpose of this patrol. His officers have found incidents where holders of these permits have apparently used them to cut greater numbers of trees than were intended by the issuing owner and even to cut the trees from properties not stated in the permit.

PET DEER FINDS ITS WAY BACK TO HOME RANCH

A pet deer, a familiar sight on the Adams ranch near Sierraville for the past several years, proved this week that domesticity had a stronger urge than the well known "call of the wild," so far at least, as it was concerned.

The animal had been left in the care of the residents of the Martinetti ranch, near Sattley, and they had gradually allowed it the run of the place as it had become apparntly adjusted to its new surroundings.

A few days ago, however, the animal turned up missing, and a thorough search of the surrounding district was in progress, with the expressed belief that the deer had reverted to its wild habitat, when word was received from the Adams ranch that the "side-hill beef" had returned to the home range and was perfectly safe and contented, apparently, to remain there.

All of which goes to show that while aleopard may change his spots a deer doesn't like a change of pasture.—Mountain Messenger.

Other bids offered was by Dean Witter Co., which offered $34,874 with 3 3-4 per cent interest and accrued interest and a premium of $12600. The difference between the two bids was $952.88.

Slow Death In The Pen

Four men within the past two weeks have gone to their slow death in San Quentin's new death chamber where lethal fumes of gas now exact the supreme penalty of doomed men.

Already the tides of opposition are beginning to mount against this chamber of retribution.

Proposals to abolish it, and supplant it with other death-dealing methods, constitute in themselves a clue to the reasons for opposition to the gas chamber.

One measure, which the state legislature will shortly hear about, proposes the electric chair. Another, also to be advanced soon at Sacramento, goes so far as to recommend the introduction of the firing squad.

These clearly indicate that the disturbing aspect of the gas chamber, which has unnerved prison officials, newspapermen, and most other spectators, is its gruesome slowness. Even the gallows, by comparison, appears more humane in the view of these people.

If it were the purpose of the death penalty to inflict not only punishment, but torture as well, then the gas chamber would have much to recommend it. But in modern times, at least, it has been the aim of the state to remove the life of its doomed criminals as humanely and expeditiously as possible. Torture belongs to an older age than ours—in America, at least!—but if the accounts of eyewitnesses at San Quentin hold any merit, then torture is what takes place in death by cyanide fumes.

The issue here is not whether capital punishment is good or bad, but simply which of several methods is the quickest. The subject is not a pleasant one, at best, but it can be wisely treated only with calm, enlightened study, not by timid disregard.—Contributed.

Monopoly Quiz

Monopoly is like bad weather. Everyone is against it. The politicians denounce it, the public suffers from it, and nobody defines it.

For this reason alone, the temporary National Economic Committee, now holding hearings in Washington, promises to do good. It has embarked upon the most ambitious inquiry ever undertaken into competitive practices, price-fixing, concentration of control, and limitation of output. Its members promise they will perform not a witch-hunt, but an impartial, enlightening study during the length of its service, which may be one or two years.

In that event, the ice may be cut, and the blockade removed, which has impeded an understanding of monopoly—and impeded, as well, effective remedies. For monopoly takes many forms. It is not necessarily big. The village blacksmith and the town general store, in their day, exercised virtual monopolies in their communities until modern transportation and mass merchandising abolished their control.

The intelligent citizen may find one of the most clear-cut statements on the matter in this definition by Chester H. Gray, a very perceptive business executive: "From the public point of view, a monopoly may be defined as being a corporate aggregation strong enough, whether big or little, in capital and physical assets and favored enough by law and regulation to dictate prices of the commodity handled by it, and to throttle competition, all of which results in the ultimate consumer paying more."

This definition will prove unpopular with crusading politicians whose zeal leads them to ignore the consumer's interest while trying to destroy the mass retail systems, which do only 22 per cent of all retail business.

But in connection with the present inquiry, it emphasizes the difference between monopoly and bigness, and between bigness and badness—a source of confusion which has often placed the public at the mercy of politicians.—Contributed.

"All Is Forgiven!"

After serving two years in penitent exile, the Duke and Duchess of Windsor are to be welcomed home, at long last, to England.

This was the gist of the meetings between the Duke and Prime Minister Chamberlain in Paris recently, and last week the ex-king's brother, the Duke of Kent, again confirmed it.

The first of England's 38 monarchs to abdicate, the former Prince of Wales is now the first of the world's exiled royalty to receive Christmas greetings cheerily beckoning, "Welcome home, all is forgiven!"

Love again conquers all—and when it so soon conquers deep-seated British conservatism its triumph is redoubtable.—Contributed.

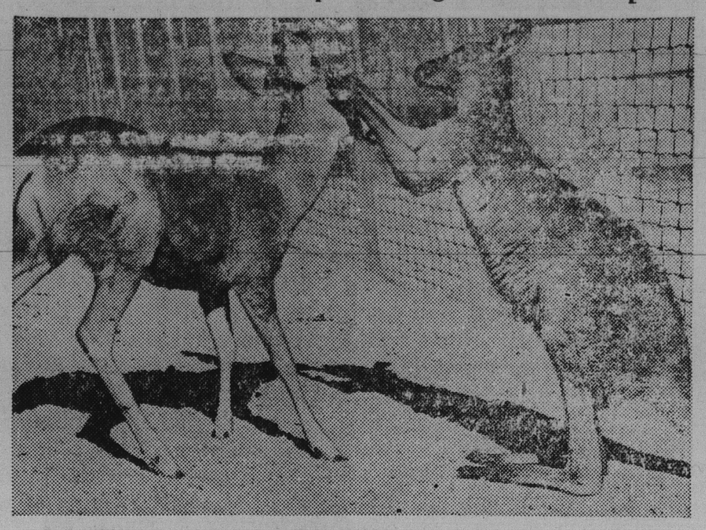
BRINGS NEW FAD

Claire Luce, star of the American stage, arrives from Europe wearing a knitted woolen veil in place of a hat, a la the new European mode.

Mrs. Gladys Rockefeller of Gold Flat and sister, Mrs. Luttieviene Weeks of Grove street jointly entertained the Gold Flat Thursday club at the Rockefeller home yestereday afternoon. A gaily decorated tree with tiny gifts for each member of the club was distributed producing much merriment. Dainty refreshments were enjoyed.

Animals Develop Strange Friendship



Something new in animal friendships has developed in Griffith Park zoo, Los Angeles. Sparky, a nine-months-old mule deer, is unhappy unless he is living and playing with Jimmy, a six-year-old kangaroo. The strange friendship between the two animals started six months ago when the keeper noticed that Jimmy spent most of his time against the fence nuzzling Sparky. They were put together, and have been pals ever since.

Born in U. S., No Longer a Citizen

Returning to the United States from Siberia, Mrs. Pauline Kim, a Jewish woman born in Brooklyn and former teacher at Staten island, learned from immigration authorities that she and her four-year-old son can stay here only six months. Eight years ago she married Herbert Kim, a Korean student at Columbia university, and lost her citizenship. He took her to China and then to Siberia. He is being held in a Russian concentration camp as an "economic spy." Mrs. Kim is now a Chinese citizen.

NEV. CITY ELKS TEAM TO PLAY STOCKTON LADS

The Nevada City Elks and the Stockton high school join forces next Monday to create an interesting basketball program in Auburn when they oppose two Placer teams in a feature double bill.

The Elks play Placer Junior College Spartans at 9 p. m. The Spartans recently defeated the California Aggies after losing the first game of a two game series, while the Elks have been showing improved form lately.

Stockton high school is the most colorful basketball school in California. It is coached by Pete Lenz, who has won more state titles in basketball than any other mentor in the history of the sport in California.

Placer Union high school which opposes the Stockton team at 7:45 p. m. is large, and faster than big boys usually run, but the Placer boys will be outweighed by Stockton which has one 250 pounder on the squad.

Coach Cliff Wiegal of the Hillman has opposed Stockton only once since he became head coach, winning 20 to 14 at Stockton last year.

Cliff Hoff, Nevada City high school player last year, will be in the starting lineup for Placer against the Nevada City Elks. Hoff has made a regular spot on the team, beating out such experienced players as Ford Sexton, letter man last year, and Tony Fernandez, Placer union high school star of last year.

THIS AND THAT

By ROY GRIFFITHS DEETER

There is one little problem in our daily life that quite defeats us, and that is, why in the world is it that most motorists simply will not stop for a siren? The law reads that when you hear the siren of a patrol car, an ambulance or fire truck, you are supposed to pull over to one side and STOP, until said vehicle has passed you, but in our general vicinity how many people do it? Usually they will take a squint at their speedometer shrug their shoulders with an well-it-can't-be-me-I-am-not anything attitude and continue merrily on their way. In the meantime the driver of the mercy car has to accomplish miracles of driving to get to the scene of accident or fire as quickly as possible and without injuring himself or some one else. Most people seem to think when they hear a siren that it is just some politician going home to lunch, they do not consider that a life may be at stake. Therefore my friends we urge you, when you next hear a siren, REGARDLESS of where you are, pull to one side and STOP, and verbum sat sapienti, if our little English sparrow is to be believed, there will soon be a drive to enforce just this thing —so be on the safe side good people, be on the safe side!

And to bounce from very serious matters to a very lovely one, we have been playing a new game the last few nights, we call it Hunt-the-Christmas-Tree and we drive about town looking to see if there are any new out door trees since the night before, they really are blossoming fast, and gosh they are so pretty, so far Nevada City has quite a few more than Grass Valley, I hope that situation will continue.

We are in the throes of writing a Christmas play, for you for the next issue. A playlet that we feel will be very appropriate for all you folkses who will have your homes just bulging with guests for Christmas, and it will be a warning to you as to just what will happen when everyone decides to take a bath about the same hour of the morning, preferably Christmas morning. Now doesn't that sound tempting kiddies? Or don't people take baths on Christmas morning? But at least they will Christmas Eve morning, it is Saturday this year you know!

And with that pearl of wisdom off our chest we say to you, Cheerio, everybody!

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder if from some fair shining orb,
Adrift in luminous realms of outer space,
The Spirit of the season steals away
And toward our lowly planet turns his face;
Fancy depicts his moonlight silvered ship,
Skirting the shores of calm, celestial light,
It's guide, the radiant star that came of old
To dissipate the shadows of earth's night.

I wonder just when the Christmas Spirit steps from his magic, silver boat and begins to exert his benign influence upon this stormy little world of ours; wouldn't it be wonderful to know the exact time, so that we might, one and all, greet him with clean hands and contrite hearts!

Perhaps it is better that we are denied this knowledge; to be sure he comes so gently, and silently into our lives and homes, that we are often taken unaware; but the gradual transformation taking place in the hearts and minds of ourselves and our acquaintances, provides a thrilling part of the joyous yule-tide season.

I wonder if you have noticed that numbers of people seemingly disappear just before and during the Christmas holidays; the inexplicable absence of familiar persons from our midst might occasion serious alarm were it not for the fact that those who apparently slip into their places ,are eminently more agreeable and worth-while. Inspect your circle of acquaintances—why, there isn't a single rude, grumpy or cantankerous man or woman left! No one is haughty, supercilious or over bearing; not a breath of fault finding, back biting or malicious gossip stains the atmosphere; every one you meet is cordial, considerate and smilingly courteous!

Of course no one has disappeared, no one has usurped another's place; we are the same people, but something has given us the rare courage to be ourselves—given us the courage to express our finer sentiments, act upon our better impulses and respond to our higher inspirations.

Yes, we are indeed the same people; but in the presence of the Christmas Spirit, we drop the sordid loads that sometimes hamper our daily living and stand for a time revealed as we really are. Sometime we may become daring enough to live at our best from one enchanted season to another.

We travel light at Christmas time—
We drop our heavy load
And just go singing merrily
Adown a sunlit road;
And every soul we chance to meet,
A brother seems to be;
No inhibitions hedge us around
At Christmas time, you see.

Uncle Silas says: "I always did send my Christmas packages out early, but I don't write, 'not to be opened till Christmas.' on 'em now: I just wrap them in layers of cellophane and let friends and relatives struggle."

SISTER SHIP OF LINDBERGH PLANE IS FLOWN AGAIN

One of the most difficult tasks facing Paramount property men working on "Men With Wings," the picture which opens at the Nevada Theatre Sunday, was to find a duplicate of the famous "Spirit of St. Louis", in which Charles A. Lindburgh made his non-stop flight from New York to Paris in 1927.

Officials at Washington's Smithsonian Museum, where Lindy's plane has been reposing these last ten years, were unwilling to risk lending it to a film crew, and so William A. Wellman, producer and director of the Technicolor aviation epic, started a nationwide search to find a "sister ship" of the "Spirit."

After combing the country, studio research men found just the plane they wanted in an old hangar at Glendale, California. An authentic Ryan J-5, it was then marked with Lindy's famous symbol, "NX 211" and piloted through the air by one of California's leading aces, Paul Mantz technical adviser to the late Amelia Earhart.

The sequence in "Men With Wings" in which the "Spirit of St. Louis" appears reconstructs the start of the race from New York to Paris for the Orteig prize of $25,000. Fred MacMurray, the ace in the picture, enters the race.

GRASS VALLEY VISITOR SUCCUMBS SUDDENLY

Theran Price, former resident of Portland, died suddenly yesterday noon at 12 o'clock in his room at the Commercial hotel in Grass Valley. His wife was sleeping at the time and was awakened by her husband's groans. She telephoned Dr. H. L. Karo. Though he responded immediately, when he arrived, Price had passed away. Presumably he died of a heart attack. Coroner A. M. Holmes took charge of the remains.

Professor Ernest Calley and son, Douglas, of Carmel will arrive today to spend the week end with Attorney and Mrs. Harry E. McKee at their beautiful home McKeeysport up on the Tahoe-Ukiah highway. Mr. Calley teaches in the Carmel schools.

DACIN DREDGING COMPANY

While the Dacin Dredging Company boat is continuing operations on the ground adjoining the Maben Dairy ranch in southern Nevada county with its big dredge boat a crew is out on the old Champion mine ground west of Nevada City testing Deer Creek gravel banks. It is understood if the tests prove satisfactory to the company the boat will be moved to the new field before many months.

Mrs. Florence Lammon is confined to her bed at her home in Glenwood following a recent severe fall. Her many friends will be gratified to know she is making a satisfactory recovery. Her daughter, Mrs. H. Attebery, of Berkeley is here to spend the Christmas holidays.

Charles Wyant, manager of the Shamrock Restaurant, arrived in Arizona the day before his mother passed away. He will remain until after the funeral services are over.

SEAWELL ASKS FOR SUGGESTIONS ON LEGISLATION

The following letter has been received from Senator Jerry Seawell:

Editor, Nevada City Nugget,

Dear Sir: Following the custom which I instituted when I became a member of the California Legislature, I am calling to the attention of the people of my district that the legislature will again convene January 2, 1939.

I am inviting suggestions regarding legislative proposals to be introduced next session from any individual, organization, or group of people in my district relating either to immedate district needs or general state welfare. I will also welcome local interest and advice on legislative matters that will confront the legislature when it convenes, for it is only through this medium that I am able to obtain an expression of opinion from my people on matters pending in the legislature.

If there are any organizations or groups who desire to meet with me either prior to the legislature or during the legislature on matters to be proposed or pending, I would appreciate having these organizations or groups arrange for any meetings they might desire in which they feel my presence may be helpful.

Thanking you for conveying this message to the people of the Seventh Senatorial District, which constitutes the counties of Placer, Nevada and Sierra, I beg to remain.

Sincerely yours,

JERROLD L. SEAWELL.

Mr. and Mrs. George Brailey who purchased the old Cohn property on Grove street about a year ago have completely remodeled and repaired the interior and exterior of the old house. A new coat of white paint is being applied and will make the building quite attractive when completed.

Mrs. Howard Burr most graciously entertained members of her club with a dainty luncheon Wednesday. Christmas decorations made a gay little scene on the prettily arranged table. Favors were dainty handkerchiefs and a tiny Santa Claus. The afternoon was occupied with fancywork.

Mrs. Harry E. McKee returned recently from a six weeks visit with Mr. and Mrs. Brundin near Los Angeles. Mr. Brundin is in charge of the chemiculture ranch which raises all sorts of garden plants, flowers and shrubs in a chemical solution. The method is creating world wide interest.

Fred Sauvee had a contractor reface the Union Ice Delivery building at the Plaza last week. This building was the original Union Ice Delivery plant operated by his father and the boards had been on the front about 50 years. New modern windows replace the tiny pane windows of early times.

A. H. Haddy is confined to his home on Park avenue with t severe attack of flu.

Constipated?

"For 30 years I had constipation, awful gas bloating, headaches and back pains. Adlerika helped right away. Now, I eat sausage, bananas, pie, anything I want. Never felt better." Mrs. Mabel Schott.

CHINESE JUNK TO SAIL IN JAN. FOR CENTENNIAL

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 15. — As plans move ahead for the sailing of Richard Halliburton, well known author and adventurer, in a Chinese Sailing Junk from Hongkong to Sacramento, requests for the cacheted envelopes which he will carry to commemorate the Sacramento-Golden Empire Centennial pour into the centennial headquarters.

Only a limited quantity of the cachets are available to the public and they will be on sale until the first week in January which is when Halliburton will sail from the Orient. He will be accompanied on the voyage by four eastern college boys, Robert Chase, John Potter, Gordon Torrey and George Barstow. They are in Hongkong at the present time preparing supplies for the junk which is now being specially built for the voyage.

Their arrival date in Sacramento will be about March 15th and they will spend ten days in the city during which time Halliburton will make several public appearances, amongst them a reception which is being sponsored by a group of the leading local and valley clubwomen. Entree to the affair will depend upon having purchased a cachet which sells for a dollar each.

The Boy Scouts of America have lent their support to the event by distributing 7400 pieces of literature throughout the Golden Empire. If the response from their work is satisfactory the centennial committee has assured the scouts of having Halliburton as their guest at a luncheon meeting during his visit in Sacramento.

Halliburton will sail his junk up the Sacramento river and it will be on display during the ten days he visits here.

Applications for the cacheted envelopes, which will be autographed by the author, may be made through the centennial headquarters at the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce. The cachets are of special value to stamp collectors as they will bear an issue and cancellations of a Chinese stamp as well as a United States stamp and special Sacramento-Golden Empire Centennial cancellation.

ZEIBRIGHT MINE

All winter supplies have been trucked to the Zeibright mine located in the lower or southwest end of Bear Valley. The mine is isolated a portion of the winter by deep snows but this year the state division of highways has promised to try to keep the Tahoe Ukiah highway open and the mine company will keep two or three miles of road to the mine open with tractors. A school is maintained at the mine for children of families at the property and application has been made to have a post office at the mine. The Newmont interest are operating the property.

MACK MINE

The Arizona California Explorations company has taken an option on the Mack mine in the Canada Hill section southeast of Nevada City. The shaft which is about 170 feet deep has been unwatered and it is stated two men have started sinking. The mine is in a district hard to drain and much water has been encountered in pumping operations. J. L. Jackson is in charge of the property.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

By JEAN MARTZ

The Nevada City Yellowjackets tonight will meet the A and B basketball teams from Roseville. The Nevada City boys have beaten the Nevada City town team, the Wheatland teams and the teams from East Nicolaus. Their only defeat was in the game against the Placer Junior College Reserves. However, Roseville high is very large and there are more boys to choose from.

On the A team, Coach Martin's starting line up will probably be Hershal Lotz and Hobart Childers, forwards; Karl Kopp, center; Gates and Doolittle, guards. Childers moved up from the B team this year. The other men are veterans from last year.

The B team has been very successful this year too. The starting lineup will probably be forwards, Pingree and Ruth, center, Leo Mitchell, guards, Martin and W. Brown.

This is the first big "home" game and there will be a large number of spectators. Coach Martin has been keeping his boys in practice and they will be in excellent form.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The Home Economics Club held a meeting on Wednesday. The girls will have a "hot dog" sale at the game. Elsie Schreiber is committee chairman. There is a large group belonging to the Home Economics Club. It is very active. The club has had a luncheon "kid" party this year and is planning more activities. Sylvia Ronning is president and Miss Severtsen is advisor.

SKI CLUB

The Ski Club held a meeting on Tuesday. The constitution was read and ratified by the group. The club voted for colors, blue and white. At the next meeting the club will vote on a name and emblem. Mr. Leland Smith gave the members an excellent talk on ski equipment. The boys and girls are very enthusiastic and ski-minded. They are going to subscribe for a magazine on snow sports and instruction. They intend to start a library for the club. Betty Smith who is adept at skiing is president, Mr. Hobbie, also skilled, is advisor.

SENIOR PROGRAM

The senior program is well under way. The cast for the play "Toby's Christmas Gift" has been chosen as follows: Toby Brown—Byron King; Ma Brown—Georgia Glennon; Susie Larken—Jean Martz; Miss Grey—elen Barker; Mary Lane — Bernice McQuay; Buddy Brown — Jimmie Hunter.

It is a one-act comedy which will last around twenty five minutes. The plot revolves around Toby's desire to get a present for his mother and Susie's desire to win Toby's affections.

Another part of the program is a Hill Billy Band led by Bill Joyal with Margie Keckler as the soloist.

A number of the seniors will sing carols at the program, to add to the theme of Christmas. It is customary each year for the sophomores to get a big Christmas tree, the juniors trim and decorate the tree, the seniors present a program and the freshmen take down the tree. The program will be very fine.

FORMAL DANCE

The Sharps and Flats formal dance will be held on the 22nd of December. Members of the club are very busy with their plans. Buster Williams, president, has appointed his committees. Chairmen are as follows: Decoration committee—Georgia Glennon. Program committee—Mary Libbey; Music committee, Evelyn Elliott, and Bill Rickard chairman of the refreshment committee. Evelyn Elliott and her committee have heard and engaged a local orchestra which has just organized but makes excellent music.

Mrs. Libbey is busy perfecting the beautiful selections that the choruses will sing. She has found many lovely voices in her group and she is very pleased. The group has been learning a processional which will be very effective. If the dance is a success it will become an annual affair.

OLDER BOYS CONFERENCE

The assembly will be entertained on Friday by reports of the boys who went to the Older Boys Conference. David McCraney was president and a large delegation went to the conference with him. The reports will be very interesting.

BLUE TENT SCHOOL PROGRAM

The Blue Tent school closed last evening for the winter period with a weenie roast and Christmas program which was enjoyed by pupils and their parents. Mrs. Lydia Gleason of Nevada City is the teacher and there are ten children in the school. Due to heavy snows, storms, and bad roads the school closes the 15th of December and reopens the first of March.

CHAMPION CIRCLE

Champion Cirle of Woodcraft held a delightful party and enjoyed a Christmas tree and program last evening in Pythian Castle. Seventy five bags of candy were filled for children of the members. Mrs. A. H. Haddy is guardian neighbor of the lodge.

Sidney Wood, who is operating a mine in Tuolumne county, was a visitor in Grass Valley last week. Mr. Wood did considerable work on a mine near Spenceville about two years ago.

LIGHTED CROSS

The beautiful seven by nine foot cross on top of a tree at the Eiza Kilroy home on Drummond street was lighted Tuesday evening. A living tree in the yard has also been lighted. Mrs. Jack Carney in the same neighborhood has lighted an arch over the front entrance to her home. Lighted Christmas trees are a little slow in showing up but it is believed that after this week there will be many about the city and environs.

LAVA CAP MINE

A station is being cut on the 12th level in the Central shaft at the Lava Cap mine in the sinking program. The mill is treating 320 tons of ore per day. About a month ago, the ball mill was relined cutting down tonnage in the mill for a time, until the mill shapes up to again take more ore. Some of the miners were laid off temporarily due to this but as fast as capacity increases men are reemployed.

J. H. O'Brien, operator of the Plumbago mine and Engineer Bonivert passed through Nevada City the latter part of last week enroute to their homes after an inspection trip to the mine near Alleghany.
